THE TOWN THAT IS OVERREACHING ITSELF.

Our neighboring city of Winchester is overreaching itself in the business enterprises, or at least that is what is to be gleaned from an expression of the Winchester Democrat, which advocates a thinning out process to reduce the number sufficiently to meet the means of support of the people in that city. Referring to recent assignment the Democrat says:

"A grocery firm is the latest store in Winchester to take advantage of the bankrupt laws, which goes to show that many lines of business in Winchester are overdone. There is as much, or more, money, in circulation here as in any other town in Kentucky its size, but as Col. John Garner says: 'There are too many dividers.'

There are twenty-five stores in the city, of different business lines, neither of which are on the right side of the ledger, but always on the ragged edge. They are barely able to get by each year with a scant living and pay expenses. All this is because there are too many in the same business. Everybody knows that this is the case and Winchester will continue to be 'run on paper' unless some of these thin out and seek other towns where there is a better opening.

"In Paris, Mt. Sterling and Richmond these conditions do not exist, consequently a bankrupt or an assignment is a very rare thing. Winchester's Commercial Club's activity is far greater than all these towns put together, but it is a question as to whether it pays to advertise your town to the world and bring in business enterprises that you are unable to support."

Unlike our sister city, Paris has made but little effort during the past decade in securing enterprises, but with all this there has been a most substantial increase in this department to meet increase in the city's population. We must agree with the Democrat that assignments are few and far among business men of Paris which demonstrates that no branches are overworked, and there is still room for other enterprises.

With a continuation of the growth of the city for the next ten years that has been experienced during the same period in the past, Paris will take the lead among cities of the same class in Central Kentucky.

LEWIS TO MEET FREDERICKS.

Promotor Jerry Wells has arranged another match between Ed "Strangler" Lewis and Bob "Turtle" Fredericks to be staged to-morrow night at the Opera House in this city. Mr. Wells put on a match in Paris last week between Dr. Roller and Fredericks and he had a big house. This has encouraged him to stage another match for the Paris sports.

All holds including the strangle and toe hold, will be allowed in the coming match. Lewis arrived in Paris yesterday where he will finish training. Fredericks will train in Lexington.

The three matches between Lewis and Fredericks have been unsatisfactory. Lewis losing the first one in a handicap affair, the police stopping the second because of unnecessary roughness, and Fredericks winning the third one after Lewis had won the first fall and seemed a sure winner.

COMPARISON WILL PROVE.

The Studebaker "35" Touring Car is an electrically started, electrically lighted, six passenger car for $1,290. Comparisons will prove conclusively that the "35" has never been equaled within several hundred dollars of its price.

The long, handsome body is swung on easy springs which, in the rear are of the three-quarter elliptic type. The car built for comfort. In finish, both of body and upholstery, it is rich and durable. The two auxiliary seats, while thoroughly solid and restful, may be instantly folded up out of the way or entirely removed.

The convenience of the "35" is a noteworthy characteristic. A pull of a lever on the steering column starts the motor. The gear shift levers are operated handily and both front doors open, permitting a driver to enter or alight from either side. Press a button and the brilliant electric head lights illuminate the road.

Mechanically and in all its appointments, the "35" is a most satisfying car.

Price, complete, $1,290. Thirty-five H. P. Long Stroke Motor, Electric Starter, Electric Lights and Electric Horn, Six-Passenger Body, 34 x 4 Tires, Top, Windshield, Speedometer, Extra Rim, etc.

A CARD TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF BOURBON COUNTY.

To the Democratic Voters of Bourbon County:

When I announced myself several weeks ago as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Coroner of Bourbon County it was my intention to make an active canvass, but the press of daily employment during a busy season has so far made this impossible, and I have only been successful in presenting my claims to a small percentage of the voters. On the other hand my opponent, with unlimited time and resources has taken every advantage in furthering his candidacy.

Notwithstanding the fact that I have been greatly handicapped in this respect I have a number of active friends who are presenting my claims and beg the kind indulgence of the voters of the county whom I may not be able to see before the August primary.

Aside from taking this advantage my opponent has availed himself of the opportunity to circulate, with a view of doing me harm in my race, unfounded reports that I was the "tool" or candidate of certain politicians, hostile to his interest, and who were instrumental in bringing me out in an effort to defeat him in the primary.

Such reports were false, and in so finding my opponent thought not a moment of making a correction of his statements, but left the impression with a large number that I was being used by the politicians, thereby doing me a great injustice, and in the face of an agreement that we would resort to on underhand tactics.

I cannot but feel that my opponent has injured me to a certain extent by the circulation of such a falsehood, and I take this method of setting myself right before those who might be under a false impression.

It is nothing more than a matter of justice to myself that the voters of Bourbon should compare the records of the opposing candidates in the race for Coroner and it is with a great deal of pride that I can point to mine without a blush of shame at having violated a pledge or refusing to support a nominee after participating in a convention in which he was nominated and who as a participant was in honor bound to support.

This record in my regard has been handed down for almost a century, and it is a matter of self-pride that I stand by it.

On the other hand I can point to an instance in the political career of my opponent, in which he faltered at his pledge, and, after participating in a convention at which a Democratic candidate was nominated for Magistrate, devoted his energies in the regular election to have him defeated by a Republican, nominated at a Republican convention, and at the instance of disgruntled Democrats.

The Democrats of Bourbon should weigh the matter carefully before casting their vote in the August primary, and consider fully the Democracy of the opposing candidates before reaching a decision in the matter. With this before the voters I trust to be favorably considered.

Very truly yours,

(Adv.) GEO. M. KISER.
